

The Foundation for Rabbit-free Australia (RFA) is a publicly subscribed fund that:

- Promotes and supports continuing rabbit research and development.
- Encourages adoption of the control of rabbits in the field.
- Increases government, industry and public awareness of the continuing rabbit problem.

RFA relies on its members and donations to support the activities of the Foundation.

Why support RFA?

You'll be supporting an organisation that makes a difference to Australia's economy and environment.

Your membership or donation will support:

- Innovative rabbit research & development.
- Postgraduate training.
- Land-manager training.
- Community awareness.
- Influencing environmental policies nationwide.
